President's Invitation to the Florida League of Cities 91st Annual Conference

Dear Friends:

The Florida League of Cities 91st Annual Conference will be held August 17-19 at the Orlando World Center Marriott. My yearlong presidential initiative, Safe Cities, Safe Florida, has focused on developing training and resources to assist local leaders build safer communities. At the conference, a Safe Cities, Safe Florida Toolkit will be distributed that pulls together a variety of those resources to help officials better prepare for and deal with disasters, whether natural or manmade. Conference workshops will provide further ways to combat possible threats to your community, including a session on the opioid epidemic, and spotlight other issues affecting municipal operations and governance.

During a keynote address, former Dallas Police Chief David Brown will recap the day he lost several officers to an active shooter, how the city recovered and lessons learned from this tragedy.

The schedule includes other keynote presentations from National League of Cities President Matt Zone, councilman for the City of Cleveland, Ohio; and John "Mac" Stipanovich, a prominent Florida attorney who represents individuals and entities, including the Florida League of Cities, before state government agencies, the governor and Cabinet, and the Legislature. Mac will be discussing the current political climate and the challenges it presents to cities, as seen in the recent legislative session.

Also, the League's legislative priorities for next year will be set at this conference. With the 2018 legislative session starting in January, the League's five legislative policy committees will be finalizing their legislative priority issues. At Saturday's business session, the League's membership will vote on the 2018 Legislative Action Agenda. Please join us as cities set the stage for the next legislative session.

We are very excited about this year's conference and hope you'll plan to attend. Knowledge is power, and nothing is more powerful than the united voice of Florida's 412 municipalities working together to make our cities the best in the nation. I look forward to seeing you in Orlando!

Sincerely,

Susan Haynie, FLC President
Mayor, City of Boca Raton

General Information

The 91st Annual Conference of the Florida League of Cities will be held August 17-19, 2017, at the World Center Marriott in Orlando.

Strengthening each city's ability to prevent, neutralize and respond to threats has been the goal of President Susan Haynie's Safe Cities, Safe Florida initiative. Whether responding to a hurricane, tornado, active shooter, sinkhole or wildfire, municipalities are on the front line of protecting their residents during a crisis.

The conference schedule will be filled with workshops and speakers to help you to address possible threats to your community. You'll hear from former Dallas Police Chief David O. Brown, who was at the helm when five of his officers were killed by a lone gunman in 2016. You'll also receive an in-depth look at the state's opioid epidemic, a crisis that is impacting cities large and small. You'll have the opportunity to dive deep into these and other issues to help prepare you for possible threats. RESEARCH SYMPOSIUM

Medical Marijuana and Your City: Facts, Fiction and Moving Forward

In 2016, Florida's voters approved a constitutional amendment legalizing the production, distribution and use of medical marijuana. The implementation of this amendment will require legislation, administrative rule and the development of complex processes for growers, doctors and patients – and dealing with myths and misinformation. As licensed dispensaries and nurseries provide products and services, questions remain about how and when these will impact our cities. Impacts may be felt in the areas of permitting, zoning, code enforcement, intergovernmental relations, law enforcement and emergency response, as well as other departments. The Center for Municipal Research & Innovation is proud to host this symposium supporting President Susan Haynie's Safe Cities, Safe Florida Initiative. Plan now to join with policy and industry experts, municipal representatives and the League's research partners for a timely, informative and action-oriented session designed to help cities determine next steps.

While there is no fee to attend, pre-registration is required. Please check the box on the enclosed registration form.

Note that anyone who signs up and does not attend the symposium will be assessed a no-show fee of $45.

DAVID O. BROWN

A Dallas native, former Chief David O. Brown quit school during his senior year in college to become a Dallas police officer, with the goal of fighting the crack cocaine epidemic in his old neighborhood. Over his 33 years with the Dallas Police Department, Brown served as a patrolman, crime scene detective, SWAT team member and leader, internal affairs detective and assistant chief.

His career was marked by its share of tragedy, including the death of his brother due to drug-related violence, the murder of his partner and the death of his mentally ill adult son in a shootout with police that also left a police officer dead. But there was also triumph – including completing his bachelor's and master's degrees while being promoted to the highest ranks in the department, and working to reduce crime more than any other chief in the history of the department. Under his tenure, officer-involved shootings were reduced more than 40 percent and excessive-force complaints were reduced by 70 percent, their lowest points on record. Brown's efforts in community policing are nationally renowned. He is the longest-serving and most beloved Dallas police chief in modern times.

His leadership during and after the tragic events of July 7, 2016, calmed the City of Dallas and the nation. Brown's decision to use a robot to detonate C4 explosives to neutralize a suspect was a first in the history of American policing. And the chief's call to protestors to become part of the solution by applying to join the police department, earned him accolades from across the nation and around the world.

MATT ZONE

Cleveland City Councilman Matt Zone is recognized nationally, regionally and locally as a leader on environmental, arts and cultural issues. Currently, Zone serves as president of the National League of Cities.

Regionally, Zone is a past president of the Northeast Ohio City Council Association and also serves on the steering committee of the Regional Prosperity Initiative, which is working to create a "Smart Growth" plan for Northeast Ohio.

Locally, he continues to be a tireless advocate for alternative energy and green building, by evidence of the fact that his ward is home to the only EcoVillage in Ohio and one of the first in the country. The EcoVillage is complete with an LEED built school, theatre and certified regional transit station, highly energy-efficient homes that heat and cool for less than $500 annually, and has a model stormwater demonstration project on a 25-acre city recreational facility.

Zone has been the driving force behind the development of the Gordon Square Arts District, which is composed of new housing and businesses, retail development, and the construction and renovation of three theaters. He also authored the City of Cleveland's "Percent for Arts" legislation, which requires all applicable capital improvement projects over $300,000 to set aside 1.5 percent of the total budget to include artists in their design.

As chairman of Council's Safety Committee, Zone, who is in constant contact with the city's safety forces, is in the vanguard of the battle against neighborhood crime. He is also very involved in the City of Cleveland's consent decree with the U.S. Department of Justice and the federal monitor overseeing the Cleveland Police Department.

MAC STIPANOVICH

John "Mac" Stipanovich is an attorney who represents individuals and entities, including the Florida League of Cities, before state government agencies, the governor and Cabinet, and the Legislature. He has extensive experience in the political arena and in the public sector, including serving as Florida executive director for Reagan-Bush 1984, campaign director for Bob Martinez for Governor in 1986 and 1990, chief of staff to Martinez, senior advisor to Jeb Bush for Governor in 1994, and advisor to Secretary of State Katherine Harris during the 2000 presidential recount in Florida.
